educational institution of the Chittur Taluk. Without considering all these my friend, the Member for Ezhavas wants to look with a long eye. He does not care to see what the condition of these schools and hostels are, whether they have accommodation and whether they have been supplied with all the necessary requisites. Without considering all these things he wants higher classes to be opened. His purpose in bringing forward that point is that poor people may get higher education. But I ask, should not the poor people come from the lower classes to the higher classes? Should not the poor people have the same privileges in the lower classes that they want to have in the higher classes? Without caring for all these things, if we go on spending for higher studies I do not think the wish of my friend would be realised. Those who have enough may somehow come to the top and take advantage of the Honours courses. If the poor people should have the advantage I am sure they would not be benefitted. With these few words, I move this cut motion.

Mr. I. N. Menon.—Sir, this question has to some extent been discussed this morning. But I wish to say one word and that is this. Although we have applied for affiliation for the B. Sc. and Honours courses the two are not on the same footing. There seems to be almost an inevitable necessity for B. Sc. since we have a laboratory which hardly needs any extension. But for affiliation for Hons. in a literary subject like the English literature certainly there appears to be little justification from a lay man's point of view, and the opinion of this House will be very seriously taken into consideration with regard to the Honours Courses.

13. 30—5—D—G. T. School, Trichur—Rs. 450.

Mr. I. N. Menon.—Sir, I rise to move for a grant of Rs. 450 under 30-5-D-G. T. School, Trichur. The Superintendent of the Trades School who is in charge of the general supervision of the school at Narakkal has had to proceed to Travancore to study the conditions and working of the coir schools in Travancore. This has involved a certain amount of T. A. which could not be anticipated at the time of framing the budget of this year. I request the House may be pleased to sanction this allotment of 450 rupees.

Demand put and carried.
